

EDITORIAL

Technology driving pensions

Most of us have smartphones now. We download applications that allow us to do everything from shopping and banking online, engage in social media, share photographs, read news, write messages, order a cab, to monitoring our fitness and health...

Featured stories from the October 2020 issue of Asia Asset Management

- An electronic future for Asian swaps trading
- Quality over quantity
- Coping with change
- Bullish on Taiwan
- Untapped potential
- Shifting landscape
- In bonds we \(still\) trust
- Setting standards

Latest News

Korea small business group KBIZ seeks managers for US\$300 million global mandate

| 6 October 2020

Market Access: The mandate comprises a $200 million multi-asset strategy and a $100 million traditional asset strategy

Singapore fund management assets may get a boost from new structure for funds

| 6 October 2020

Investments: Industry observers point to the VCC structure and political stability as drivers of fund inflows into Singapore

US dollar seen to stay weak post-election, US-China trade tensions likely to persist

| 6 October 2020

Investments: Technology companies may benefit post-election, Japanese car companies may suffer from stricter rules

UK manager Man AHL gets China foreign investor licence

| 5 October 2020

Market Access: Beijing recently expanded the scope of investments for licence-holders from stocks and bonds to alternatives

