

FINBOURNE Technology Overview

About FINBOURNE Technology

FINBOURNE combines extensive technical expertise in financial services data management with a best-in-class, open, cloud-based investment management and servicing product ecosystem. By deploying our solutions, our clients can better aggregate, manage and utilise data across their organisations.

With operations across North America, Europe, Asia and Australia, FINBOURNE's data management solutions help financial services firms improve their investment management and servicing capabilities. Clients can increase returns, reduce costs and manage risk by maximising the value of their internal and external data.

Who we serve

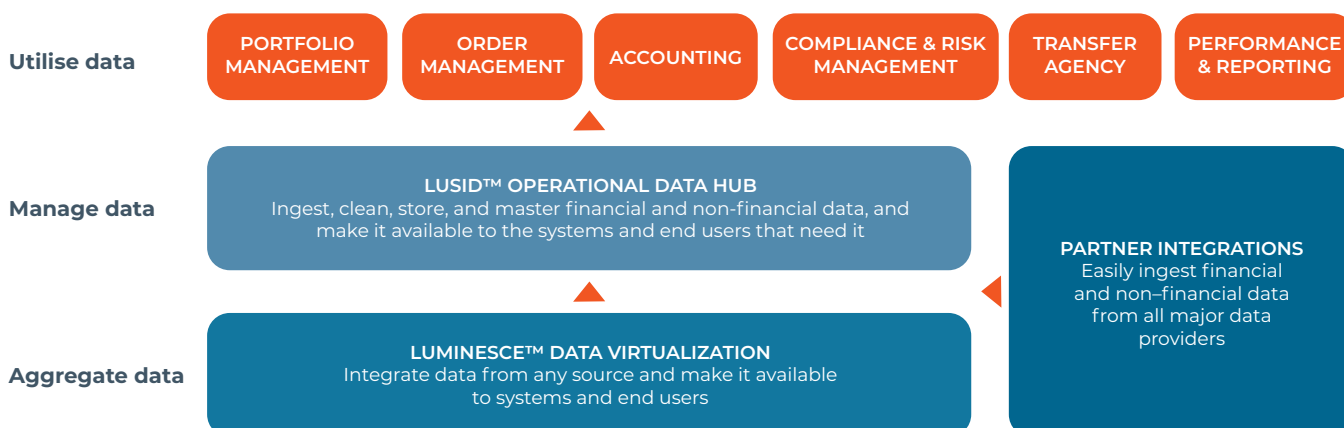

Built for the financial services industry, we empower investment data processes and drive operational growth for emerging hedge funds through to established global institutions.

Our Solutions

FINBOURNE's solutions add value in large and small scale organisations and can be as bespoke or "out of the box" as required. We can provide a full end-to-end data management solution or augment existing platforms and technology with elements of our financial data services stack.

LUSID™ Investment Management and Servicing System

Why choose FINBOURNE?

- ▶ Only FINBOURNE deals with every asset class that does, or ever will exist in both public and private markets.

We eliminate the need for organizations to separate systems for each asset class.

- ▶ Only FINBOURNE is easy to deploy and fast to deliver value.

We adapt to and preserve a client's proprietary investment process. We interact with their existing technology, algorithms, and processes via APIs, or replicate them in FINBOURNE's systems with highly configurable workflows.

- ▶ Only FINBOURNE enables robust investment decision making.

End users can gain secure access to every piece of information, financial or non-financial, that their organisation has sourced internally or externally on any given security.

- ▶ Only FINBOURNE provides a wide suite of advanced technology solutions for the investment management industry.

Our solutions deliver everything from accounting, operations, and data management solutions.

- ▶ Only FINBOURNE can be as small or large scale as clients need.

Clients can a full end-to-end data management solution or help augment existing platforms and technology with elements of our financial data services stack.

We are trusted by some of the world's leading financial services firms
